

Expanding Global Access: Rhythm Healthcare Launches in Canada and Europe

Rhythm Healthcare is taking the next step in its mission to make life-enhancing solutions more accessible worldwide, with a focused expansion into Europe and Canada. This growth brings Rhythm's innovative products closer to the communities that can benefit most, empowering providers to deliver better care.

In Europe, Rhythm has officially launched Rhythm Healthcare France, a new subsidiary based in Lyon, that will lead operations across the EMEA region. At the heart is Flavien Dubiel, Managing Director, who will guide strategy, strengthen provider partnerships, and drive market growth.

"We're not just entering new markets; we're building trust in new communities. Our goal is to bring Rhythm's proven solutions closer to the providers who need them and do it in a way that reflects local needs and global standards," said Dubiel.

To support this momentum, Rhythm has opened a new distribution center in Amsterdam, enhancing delivery capabilities and ensuring faster, more reliable service throughout Europe.

In Canada, Rhythm has partnered exclusively with KEGO Corporation, a respected distributor with deep roots in the HME industry. Through this collaboration, Canadian providers now have access to Rhythm's P2-E Portable Oxygen Concentrator, marking the first step in bringing the brand's respiratory solutions to Canada. Building on this momentum, Rhythm plans to expand well beyond the P2-E, delivering an ever-growing portfolio of advanced oxygen technologies that empower providers and improve quality of life for the people they serve.

This expansion reflects more than business growth. It is about bringing comfort, safety, independence, and hope to people who connect with our brand.
